NOTHER ARRIVAL OF THE

SPLENDID GUITARS NEW AND BEAUTI-

DAILY DEMOCRAT. LADIES' DEPARTMENT.

SUNDAY.....AUGUST 1, 1858. READING MATTER ON EVERY PAGE.

Of all the charms dear woman wears,
Of all her many traps and snares,
For real effect there's naught campares
With a truly pretty bounet;
For when or wherever you chance to meet
One that is perfectly modest and neat,
You may depend 'ils a proof complete
That the head has more is than on it.

No matter whether she's pretty or not.
How much or how little money she's got,
Whether she live in a mraslon or cot.
'The a iact depend upon it;
The woman to make a man happy thro' life,
To make a model mother and wife,
ls one who, scorning this milliner strife,
Wears a plain and nasteful bonnet.

Now a bonnet of genuine beauty and grace, Worn on the head in its proper place, Shadowing faintly the wearer's face, "Is a thing for a song or a sonnet;" But one of these gay and gaudy things, Made up of rainbows and butterfly wings, A mixture of flowers, ribbons, and strings, Is dreadful, depend upou it.

A vulgar mass of "fuss and feather,"
A little of everything thrown together,
As if by a touch of windy weather,
A wretched conglomeration—
A sort of cusp to catch the hair,
Leaving the head to "go it bare,"
A slinking example of "Nothlug to Wear,"
Is this bonnet abomination.

It makes a woman look brazen and bold,
Assists her in catching nothing but coid.
Is bad on the young, absurd on the old,
And deforms what it ought to dock;
For look at her face, no bonnet is there,
See at the side it hangs by a hair;
Yiew it behind, and you will declare
That the creature has broken her neck.

JOHN GUMMY'S FIRST DISSERTATION.

We have the pleasure this morning of presenting to our readers John Gummy's first dissertation about Woman. Our readers will not fail to notice John's characteristic vein of satire running through the entire article. We are glad he has changed his plan, because, hy so doing, he will be able to dish up a richer feast. Our lady readers will now have an opportunity

The City Attorney has not been exactly represented in his action on the habeas corpus case that has been the subject of comment The attorneys for the accused insisted on a trial before the examining court, at 3 o'clock, P. M.; but the case was left over, at the suggestion of the City Attorney, until Monday. In the meantime, the habeas corpus was issued, and Mr. Elliott, the City Attorney, was sent for. He came before Judge Muir knowing nothing about the case. The counsel for the accused insisted on a hearing. They stated the verdict rendered by a coroner's jury, which did not implicate any one. Mr. Elliott consulted a juror there in the room, who informed him that there was no evidence implicating the this county. accused. A correspondent of the same paper, writing from Kansas city, Mo., under date of the 7th, says:

17th, says:

The river at this point is higher than it has been before this season. The rive is from the mountains, and by I r the most sinden that has visited us for years. Yeaterday morning, some fifty or sixty as Ka of salt, which the evening before were several feet above water, were found thoroughly soaked, the water having itsen during the night to such a height as to completely impered them. Several fragments of raits passed down this morning, and the efforts of some to scenre them were truly diverting; skiffs were plying in every direction, and the strong arms of hardy raftsmen were seen lastling, against the sweeping current of the "Big Middy."

The New York Evening Day Book, of 29th, has the following:

STEAMBOAT BURNED AT RONDOUT .- About half-pa ven o clock, on Monday evening, the stoamer blive anch was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was slantly given, and the fire one were quickly on the ot, but the flames had, by this time, made such hand sot, but the flames had, by this time, mane and flames ay, that the upper works were one taxes of flames then the fire broke out, the Ulive Branch was lying the dock at Rondont. She was owned by C. C. Alger, findson. All the upper worse down to the main cek, were entirely destroyed. The damage is great. The origin of the fire is unknown.

ARRIVAL OF THE GRANADA. NEW YORK, July 31.- The steamship Gran ada, arrived last evening from San Ju aragua; brought Grevtown dates of July 20th Among her passengers is Maximo Jerez, who omes to relieve Senor Yrissarri as minister to Vashington. Senor Jerez brings the Cass Yrissarri treaty as modified and ratified by Nicaragua. It is said he possesses extraordinary powers to make a convention acceptable to our government. He is also to complete the transit route negotiations with Com. Vanderbilt. Nicaragua is excited by rumors of another invasion by Gen. Walker. Gen. Martinez, after depositing the Presidency in the hands of the Vice President, had hurried to Castillo to put that place in a state of defense.

Washington, July 31 .- Dr. Forney, Super ntendent of Indian Affairs in Utah, informs the Interior Department that fifteen children belonging to the train of emigrants murdered at Sweet Water have been found, the whites having effected their ransom from the Indians. Four Germans were murdered eighty from Salt Lake City, it is supposed by the Indiaus, who, it was reported, were creating difficulties on the Southern route to California. Dr. Forney intends visiting the Indians with a view to their pacification.

Boston, July 31 .- The whale thip Herald, arrived at New Bedford, brought as passenger Capt. Lakeman of the ship Cortez, burnt at sea; also third and fourth mates, and two seamen of the Cortez, charged with setting fire to the ves-There are also two witnesses to prove the charge against the prisoners.

[terrespondence of the Louisville Democrat.] Hon. S. A. Donglas - Lecomptonism.

LEBANON, Kv., July 29, 1858. Messrs. Editors: I have read with pain the strictures contained in the Washington Union upon the late speech of Senator Douglas, delivered at Chicago. What does Mr. Buchanan's and see. rgan mean in condemning the great Democratic speech of Senator Douglas? Every word and syllable contained in that speech is Democratic, statesman-like-in accordance with the inference.

among his own constituency—with his own people—and is contending against the Repubcan party and their allies-battling for the Uniou, the Constitution, and the great principles of the Democratic party, as announced in the Cincinnati platform—the Kansas-Nebraska act: while the Washington Union follows him champion of Democratic principles anywhere to be found in the United States. And is it all to benefit Abraham Lincoln, the competitor of Senator Douglas? Will the Democra North or South, stand this? Will Mr. Buchanan and his Cabinet longer permit their organ, the Washington Union, under the guise of ocracy, to defeat the Demogratic party in Illinois, and eventually in the Union? And what FOR CINCINNATI.—The Superior, Capt. Chas. is all this for? Simply because the Illinois itman, at noon. She is the only boat bound self in the performance of his duties as one of the Senators from Illinois, a State that has ever been true and loyal to the Democracy of the Union. The Union newspaper is now doing more to aid the Black Republican party, and to deleat the National Democratic party of the Union, than any half dozen of the opposition newspapers. It is time that this warfare and civil strife among the Democracy were ended. Let there be union and harmony in the pa, ty, and brotherly love exist among its members for each other, that all of their artillery may be leveled against the common enemy. Let the Lecompton Democracy cease talking about Lecompton and Kansas, unless it is to be made a test question as to a man's Democracy; and if so, let them say so, and it will only require one more election to tell where this official Democracy stands. This whole controversy Democracy stands. This whole controversy ought to be ended; but it can never be ended as long as Lecompton Democrats talk and write about nothing else A JACKSON DEMOCRAT.

Row on a New York Pileasure Boat-A WOMAN SHOT .- The New York Tribune, of the 28th, furnishes an account of a riot on the sleamer liulse, between a number of the "Short Boys" and the officers of the steamer. The Tribune says:

"As soon as the boat was made fast the officers and hands hurried upon the dock, and the fight became general. The rowdies had armed themselves with the most convenient missiles that came to land. Stones, scantlings, chair-rungs, clubs, ax-helves, and sticks of wood were freely used on both sides. During the row the rowdies made a rush for the boat, and five of them-bloody, disfigured, and with garments torn and dirtied-succeeded in getting on poard. The fight was renewed on the boat in the effort to eject them, but the rowdies were finally overcome, and order was restored.

"During the melee Mr. John Ransom, engineer of the liulse, was struck on the cheek by a stone and knocked overboard; he was peedily rescued, and performed good service in restoring quiet. As the rowdies made the rush for the beat, Capt. Anuett drew his rerush for the ocat, capt. Anact; drew his revolver, and in the struggle near the gangway plank it was discharged, accidentally it is thought, and the ball passed through the fleshy part of the arm, above the elbow, of one of the lady passengers. Mr. Annett, the fare taker, was considerably injured, and a Mr. Melany, which is added to the right passengers. rough sides.

> excitement and fight were interse. It is a mir acle that no lives were lost." How About This?

One fact, however, which Mr. Clay stated of the Journal, made his appearance in Wash lngton, and through him a bargain was made with the Black Republicans; a bargain which Marshall does not deny, but publicly called on Mr. Stevenson to bear witness that he and his Know-Nothing allies had faithfully performed their part of the bargain.

Madama Blanche.

Botanical Physician, is still performing won derful cures of all kinds of Spinal diseases. She straightens Curvature without the least injury to the general health, and never fails to cure the worst form of womb diseases. Neither does she sulject her patient, under treatment for such discase, to that almost worst than death treatment, eautorizing, which is altogether unnecessary in ine cases out of ten.

The Madame has received an anonymou note from some person signing "A Physician," offering her $20,000 to teach him her mode of straightening Curvature and other diseases of the Spine. Who the note came from I know not, neither do l care. I merely say to the party, that it will pay me better to keep my knowledge to myself; and should I teach it to any one, it will not be a man. Man thinks he knows everything now, and the Madame is willing to leave him in his blissful ignorance.

The Madame's practice in Louisville is as arge as that of any physician in the city; beside, she has an immense practice from all parts of the country. Give her a call, and sat isfy yourself.

LABOR SAVING MACHINE. - The most impor tant to the public generally is a Washing Machine, manufactured by R. D. Porter & Co., of this city. These machines have been tried by a large number of our best citizens and have given satisfaction to every one who has used them. The machines are cheap, simple, durable, and not liable to get out of order. A child of ten years can understand and work one of them. It is a great saving o time and labor : it does not rub off the button or injure the finest fabric in washing; it will wash anything from a pocket-handerchief to the largest size bed quilt, and do the work quick, and do it well. In proof of the above, we can refer to a large number of highly respectable persons who now have the machine in use, and addition to this, give any one the privilege of trying the machine before purchasing.

ntended not as an endurance, but a blessing.
Woman, "Heaven's last best gift to man," has reason to love and reverence that inventive genius which created this "last, best gift" of man, to her necessities. It is the very poetry of machinery. In more than one sense is the "Iron Needlewoman" a poet of the highest or-der. Not only is it "a thing of beauty" in the simplicity and harmony of its mechanism, in the delicacy and precision of the work it accomplishes, and in the rapidity and graceful ease of its action—but it is destined to become "a joy forever" in that it is the real benefactor—the

I cannot divest myself of the idea that it is "pos-sessed" of some trickery spirit," who has a "mission," and who knows it as well, who whirls on the tiry wheels, and slides on the litthe planes, and rides jauntily astride the dainty lever, all the time peering up into your eyes with an elfish smile, and laughing in its kind little heart, to see how dearly you appreciate its services. It must have a spirit—a spirit of joy too, for it takes away from us, we cannot tell how, all the humdrum of sewing. We feel that some daring little utilitarian Puck is there, working and singing, and laughing at us, and so we laugh too—why should we not be gay together, and have a merry bit of a "confab" all to ourselves? The age is growing wiser—as is evidenced by the recognition of her claims. The avenues of employment, so long barriesded against her, bristling with the bayonets of Old Custom's Imperial Guard (alias steel pens in unworthy hands), have been thrown down and the weapons of their guardians, cor-roded by the gall that flowed from them, have become either inoffensive or entirely useless. The iron gates of Trade are slowly swinging open to her, the broad fields of Agriculture are waving her a welcome, the marble portals of no use Art even now stand ajar, inviting her to enter; with unshed feet she has been allowed to pass into the secret morques of Science-and the sweet choral strain which comes echoing down the long aisles of Literature's proud temple, tells that she has entered into its "holy of ho lies" bearing heart-offerings of Poesy and Song. It has been four years since I listened to the melancholy story of this beautiful girl. But I metancholy story of this beautiful girl. But I can still hear the voice of my hostess, as she related the many trials and troubles which were undergone by her friend. And, I thought, if it should be my lot to undergo such trials, I would rather be sleeping beneath the waters of the lovely Adige, which was then flowing at my feet. I will give you the story in the words of my hostess.

When I was about thirteen years of age, a bloody war breaking out in my native land, my father determined to come here. He established the inn of which I am now mistress. At to "sleep." And not only time to sleep but to live; to enjoy that existence which God had that time, that castle (pointing to an old careworn building) was inhabited by a noble family of the name of Montague, noted for their superior personal beauty and great wealth. The family consisted of Lord Montague, his wife, and his lovely and amiable daughter, then about the rearrest are so are. She was most beautiful. ten years of age. She was most beautiful; every feature bore the closest inspection. I have never seen such a lovely creature-light hearted, buoyant, amiable, and possessing every charm to make life happy; she was beloved by every one. At twelve years of age, she was sent to a school many miles from home. Here she remained until she was seventen; having, in the meanwhile, plighted her troth to a poor, but talented and handsome Italian, who was but talented and handsome Italian, who was devoted to her. Her parents, aware of this, regarded it as school girl love, and thought she would soon tire of him. But at seventeen she was withdrawn from school, with the incention of marrying her to the wealthy old Lord Rouchefault. But picture to yourself the surprise of her parents, when she very quietly in-formed them that she intended to become, in a short time, the wife of Rinaldi Vortuez! An angry scene ensued between mother and daughter.

"What!" exclaimed her mother, "marry Rinaldi Vortuez! N.E.v.k.a! Never!"
Alice very calmly asked her mother's objec-

"Alice," exclaimed the exasperated mother, leave the room, and may your children be more dutiful than you are."

Alice left the room, and after penning a long letter to her lover, sought her father, in the library, where she threw her arms around him, and poured her tale of love into his ear. Her father, who loved her as fondly as her lover did, entreated and almost begged her to re-nounce her lover; but Alice, true to her faith,
